I am especially fond of the times my friends and I spent cramming in the library right before a test and thereafter just chilling at the basketball court during breaks.

All the lecturers have been good to me and I owe the fact that I am able to make it into my chosen course of study to them. To all Sunway College JB AUSMATians, please stay up-to-date with your lessons and be very disciplined. It's not difficult to score, as long as you do well for all your assessments. Most importantly, please ask as many questions as you can - in and out of class as you have really good lecturers!

The knowledge in front office operations gained during my years in Sunway College JB was very relevant and helped me catch up with actual industry practices effortlessly.

This really supported my performance during internship and even earned me guest compliments!

Even after I went to Switzerland for my degree studies, I continued to receive encouragement and advice from my Sunway College JB lecturers. This led me to take the leap of faith to embark on building a career in China upon university graduation and I am absolutely enjoying the experience.

My 2 years at Sunway College JB have endowed me with abundant transferrable skills that would come in handy when I set foot into the working world. As a class, we owe a debt of gratitude to our assiduous lecturers who have facilitated our trajectory in more aspects than can ever be listed. Their dedication is evident in how they unfailingly attended to our queries, sometimes even at the most unthinkable hours.

My study experience has so far been splendid! Lecturers eagerly share their knowledge, provide feedback and motivate us wherever necessary. I really look forward to continuing with the Victoria University business degree right here in Sunway College JB.

OLIVIA GAN JIA YING

My experience communicating with the college staff was positive from the very start. Being so far away in Sri Lanka, the most convenient choice was email and throughout the process from enquiry to application, my concerns were met with attentive and prompt responses. Now that I am studying on campus, I find college life very 'happening' as there are many things going on. My lecturers are very good and they patiently explain the differences to me regarding matters which are uniquely Malaysian so that I do not feel left out.

Our last day at college will always be cherished for the many group photos we took to remember all the silly things we did together. On reflection, I really appreciated the personal consultation sessions with lecturers as it allowed me to learn in a more laid back environment which I found enjoyable - students should really make good use of this opportunity. We were fortunate to have lecturers who were caring but firm, who went out of their way to explain concepts and give us extensive information.

My advice to newly enrolled students is to be diligent with all the work assigned to you - it is very important not to rush nearing due dates! If you focus and manage your time well, there will surely be time for fun.

In 2009, I enrolled in the Diploma in Information Technology programme and remember my first lesson - computing principles. As each semester progressed, my interest in computing deepened as my lecturers encouraged us to take the initiative and discover information for ourselves, with the assurance that they were there to walk us through each step, when needed.

After graduating from Sunway College JB, I spent 2 years at Sunway University and upon graduation, joined a startup company, Twiddel as a tech partner before venturing out to setup my own software development company, Warmest Lab. I am currently residing in Australia as I have recently expanded my business operations there.

ALOYSIUS ANG YU CHIEN

My AUSMAT experience at Sunway College JB showed me that there was more to studying than memorising and regurgitating facts during exams. The exposure to Australia's culture and education system inspired me to look at things from a new angle and try something different with the VU business degree.

I find VU's units and assignments very relevant to the issues we face today. Its critical thinking assignments has also taught me to be more open-minded and to look and think outside the box, broadening my view.

The intense and comprehensive Business Challenge units (which are unique to VU) have greatly improved my multi-tasking and time-management skills. Having to research each point for credibility, write relevant reports fluidly and successfully negotiate nerve-wracking presentations every few weeks have given me a taste of real-world expectations. It has taught me to be relevant, accurate, consistent and clear with the information I deliver.
